Hi Cindy,

es, we are continuing to work through the Trust wind-up process. I am currently working on an accounting record of transactions from the date of Mom's death and hope to submit the first draft to the atty. Brett Gilman for his review and the review of his favored view persons in the next week or two. The date at which the Trust can be totally closed is still indefinite since there are still multiple steps to accomplish. I would guess it is still at least a couple of months away.

is definitely my goal to complete the termination of the Trust this year (2013), which will include my purchase of the property at 1408 roadway (we have the appraisals accomplished) and the liquidation of the various investment accounts, and final distributions to the Loyd Cook Math Scholarship fund, to Nell and to myself.

Hi Joe,

Mom and I were talking today. You mentioned that you were in the process of completing the termination of the "Emma Cook Trust" and that you hoped to have it completed by the end of the year.

We were wondering how that was going.

We hope to add my name to the title on the cabin this summer and it would be a lot easier if Dad's probate was complete. We cannot complete Dad's probate until the Emma Cook Trust is complete. You can see my dilemma.

Please let me know.

Thank you,
